

Christmas Luncheon

by Lorraine Stanley

What a great precursor to the holiday season !
The moment you walked through the doors of George and the Dragon you could hear " it's beginning to look a lot like Christmas.... ",

with the old fashioned
ambiance beautifully creating the Christmas X factor.
From the Christmas tree to the table settings and decorations, everything was just lovely! Sooooo Christmassy ! Then there was the excitement of the Secret Santa.

Good food, good wine and good friends.

As a special treat we were serenaded by choir members from Caroline's church. Their acoustic renditions of classic Christmas carols adding to the atmosphere.

The chatter and laughter was relentless amongst ladies
from all parts of the world, a truly international affair.
We all miss home at this time of year but there were moments of quiet contemplation when I smiled to myself and thought " this is great ! "

Happy Christmas and New Year everyone.
This is Rudolph signing off aka Lorraine Stanley :)